Current research interests:

My current research interests and recent publications cover the following topics: the emergence and institutional evolution of social pacts in Europe; changes and variations in trade union representation and collective bargaining across developed and emergent economies; insider-outsider dilemma's in the labour market and the role of unions and (large) firms; European integration and its interaction with national employment policies and labour relations; international labour standards and the emergence of regional industrial relations regimes; migration of labour and services, especially in health care; the rise and regulation of non-standard employment, and the EU posted workers regime.

Recent research projects:

1. Statistics of industrial relations and trade unions – in cooperation with, and with financial assistance from the OECD, ILO, Bureau of Labour Statistics (USA) and EU Research – building of a comprehensive statistical database on Institutional Characteristics of Trade Unions, Wage Setting, State Intervention and Social Pacts (ICTWSS) in 44 countries (including some emergent economies) stretching from 1960 to 2010; this project is enhanced through various dissertation projects on trade unions and collective bargaining, and has its origins in my dissertation and the work with Bernhard Ebbinghaus (University of Mannheim) leading to the main Handbook on European Unions, originally financed by the Volkswagen Foundation.
2. European industrial relations as a multi-level system – various subprojects on transnational issues, migration, collective bargaining, social pacts, varieties of IR systems within Europe and comparison of the EU with other world regions, chief editor of Industrial Relations in Europe reports in 2004 and 2008, founded by European Commission. In May 2011 publication of Social Pacts in Europe at Oxford University Press, with Martin Rhodes (EUI, U. of Denver) and Sabina Avdagic (Sussex University)
3. Governance as Learning and New Modes of Governance: research on institutional change, policy diffusion and change in employment, labour market and welfare reforms in the Netherlands and Europe, funded by the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research (NWO) as research programme (2004-2009) and in EU 6th Framework (2004-2008) as part of the New Modes of Governance Integrated Project. Newest publication in New Modes of Governance in Europe (Palgrave-Macmillan), edited by Adrienne Héritier and Martin Rhodes.
4. Inequality, associations and social cohesion – in particular relating to issues of minimum wage setting, legitimacy, access to support and associability, founded under the EU 6th Framework as part of the Network-of-Excellence on Economic Change, Quality of Life and Social Cohesion (EQUALSOC), where I served as research co-ordinator of the cluster on Trust, Associability and Legitimacy.
5. Global Health and Inequality – the formation and consequences of a world market in health products and health workers. Initiated in 2009 as a joint programme of excellence of the Faculty of Health and Medicine, and Social and Behavioural Science at the University of Amsterdam, co-director of the social science part with prof. Anita Hardon (Anthropology)
